

ELECTRICAL CONTACT AND CONNECTOR

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A contact includes a body having a longitudinal dimension and a transverse dimension defining a first channel being configured to receive a conductor extending along the longitudinal direction, and a second channel configured to receive a conductor extending along the transverse dimension. At least one of a lance and a tooth extend from each of the first and second channels to secure the respective conductors thereto.